SESSION AMERICANA CELEBRATES 20 YEARS!

Late one Sunday night in October 2003, Session Americana had its first jam around a table in the back of Toad in Cambridge Massachusetts. Looking back, the group has had a natural, almost inevitable evolution from a loose bunch of friends sitting around swapping songs in a bar, to a hot ticket weekly residency, to a touring collective*. Along the way, they have made 10 records, played clubs and festivals across the US and Europe, and developed some deep collaborative bonds with a wide community of musicians. Their diligent avoidance of music business “shoulds” have led them down a quirky and joyful path through the music world and the result is evident in the musical prowess they bring to every show. Swapping instruments, trading off lead vocals and sharing songwriting credits, Session Americana is constantly exploring new collaborations and touring like a band out of time, always searching for a welcoming and homey venue, a long lunch with old friends and a good glass of wine.

This fall the band celebrates their two decade journey with a series of shows featuring old and new friends, great songs from the band’s extensive catalog, and a joyous live performance that has become their hallmark. A 20 year retrospective album of some of the bands most popular songs will accompany the shows and a brand new record (as yet untitled) produced by acclaimed NY musician and producer Alec Spiegelman is set to be released in 2024
